PROPOSAL SUBMITTAL FORM

Directions:
- Use this set of forms for all proposals sent to the Curriculum Committee.
- Pages 1-3 of this document are required. Any unnecessary forms should be deleted from the packet before submissions. If multiple forms are needed (course addition, course deletion, etc), simply copy and paste additional forms into this packet.
- Note that all new programs (majors and minors) and program eliminations must be reviewed and approved by the Provost and APC prior to submission to the Curriculum Committee. Significant program revisions must also undergo review and approval by the Provost. The Provost will determine if a significant proposal revision requires approval by the APC. Revisions to the General Education curriculum originate from the General Education Committee and must be reviewed and approved by the Provost.
- Completed (and signed) forms are due on the first Tuesday of every month. Submit one signed copy to the Chair of the Curriculum Committee.

5. Executive Summary of Proposal.

Briefly summarize this proposal. The breadth and depth of this executive summary should reflect the complexity and significance of the proposal. Include an overview of the proposal, background and reasoning behind the proposal and a description of how the proposal relates to the mission and strategic long-range plan of the unit and/or university. For incidental changes a one or two sentence explanation is adequate.

The mission of the Jay S. Sidhu School of Business & Leadership is: The faculty of the Sidhu School commit to the development of our regional, national, and international students and alumni through: the practice of impactful teaching and mentoring; the understanding of emotional intelligence and entrepreneurial spirit; the growth of leadership potential; and their continued development to meet these challenging demands. Central to our programs and initiatives is the commitment to continuous program improvement and the development of programs and opportunities that add value to Wilkes University and its mission.

The foundation courses of the Sidhu school meet the mission guidelines with teaching, mentoring, emotional intelligence while sport & event management major courses encourage leadership growth, enhance the entrepreneurial spirit, and illustrate the need to adapt to the changing environment. The sport & event management major provides students with the opportunity to develop expertise in business management applied to the world of sport and recreation. As sports have evolved into an integral part of the American culture, the operations of sport programs have become more sophisticated and complex. Managers of sport programs and sport/recreational facilities must become familiar with the intricacies of sport/recreational activities and be effective as business professionals.

This program recognizes the entrepreneurial spirit is not solely contained in business and is a natural fit for a second major or minor to students in communication studies.

Given the management foundation courses already offered at Wilkes, this major can be developed with the addition of three new courses, one cross-listed course, and a new internship course.

6. Other specific information. (Not applicable for incidental changes.)

What other programs, if any, will be affected by this proposal? Describe what resources are available for this proposal. Are they adequate? What would be the effect on the curriculum of all potentially affected programs if this proposal were adopted? Include any potential effects to the curriculum of current programs, departments and courses.

In the fall of 2012, the Sidhu School expanded its degree offerings. Instead of offering a Business Administration Degree only, students could elect to major in Finance, Management, or Marketing. These additional majors did not substantially change the offering of courses, but it did increase the number of students searching and applying to our school by 10%. In addition, the quality of students increased and the number of acceptances is 22% higher than in previous years. Adding a major that recruits tell coaches they are interested in studying can only increase the number of students searching our site even further.

This program’s electives encompasses one course being taught in communications (public relations), one course being taught in nursing (nutrition), and one course being taught in sociology (sociology of sport). The faculty in these courses have agreed to enlarge their sections to provide for students in this major or minor. The only potential downside is that a few students who are majoring in one of our other BBA programs would change to the Sport and Event Management major.

7. Program Outline. (Not applicable for incidental changes).
   A semester-by-semester program outline as it would appear in the bulletin for a new program or any modified program with all changes clearly indicated.

5. Course Description (as proposed for the Bulletin):
   Course descriptions provide an overview of the topics covered. If the course is offered on a scheduled basis, i.e. every other year, or only during a set semester, note this in the description. Course descriptions should be no more than two to three sentences in length.

   Introduces legal issues that confront contemporary organized athletics and sports management. Specific topics which are highlighted include impact of antitrust laws; personal services contracts; labor law; injury and liability; franchise and transfer rules, and tax aspects. Examines the role of legal services within sports organizations and in individual athlete representation. (offered in the spring)

Required Documentation:
Proposed Syllabus   Attach proposed syllabus immediately after this document. In some situations the official syllabus may contain information which is beyond the review needs of the Curriculum Committee (such as extensive rubrics, etc). It is permissible to attach an abbreviated syllabus. In general, syllabi (whether full or abbreviated) should contain the following information: Course Title, Course Number, Credit hours, Faculty Information (name contact information, office hours), Course Description, Course Outcomes or Objectives, Assessment (grading) informations, required texts (or other things such as tools, software, etc), pertinent policies and a proposed schedule of topics.
Course Objectives:

Content:
Introduces legal issues that confront contemporary organized athletics and sports management. Specific topics which are highlighted include impact of antitrust laws; personal services contracts; labor law; injury and liability; franchise and transfer rules, and tax aspects. Examines the role of legal services within sports organizations and in individual athlete representation.

Competency:
- Identify and apply various areas of law to the sport industry
- Have a fundamental understanding of the court system and how legal issues are decided
- Become familiar with contract law and how it is utilized in sport
- Understand the principals of tort liability, especially in the area of negligence
- Become familiar with agency law
- Provide examples of how constitutional law impacts sport management decisions
- Will be informed and sensitive to sex discrimination issues
- Understand how antitrust laws protect the business sector through regulation to control private economic power
- Will understand collective bargaining agreements as a component of labor law, which is pertinent to sport.

Materials:

Prerequisites: Junior or Senior Standing

Grading:
- Exams (2) 50%
- Projects (2) 30%
- Paper 15%
Note to Students: Please feel free to email me with any problems you incur while taking this course.

Assigned Readings:
Students are responsible for all assigned readings. Questions will be posed (and we will have in-class dialogues) pertaining to the readings. Students will be asked to provide content to all class discussions.

Paper
In order to allow students to explore n great depth a particular issue or area of interest in sports law, you are to write a 15-18 page research paper on the sports law subject of your choice. Your topic selection must be provided to me by the February 15 and the paper is due on May 1.

Projects – Important Information and Instructions:

Small Group Project - Case Study You may choose any case that interests you and pertains to sport or event management. However, I must approve the case. You will work in groups of 3-4. You must provide a written synopsis of the case and also present it to the class. The written paper should include:
2. The primary questions of law that the court is trying to answer entitled Issues 10 pts.
3. The decision of the court and any previous decisions if the case had previously been appealed- entitled Holding 10 pts.
4. The rationale for the court’s decision- entitled Reasoning 20 pts.
5. Your reactions/opinions to the case and the court’s decision- entitled Reaction 10 pts.
6. Implications that this case has on future sport management professionals- entitled Implications. 20 pts.

Additional 10 Pts. For Professionalism of Paper (spelling, grammar, neatness, etc.)
The written paper should be 2-4 pages long, typed, and double-spaced. The oral presentation (informal and ungraded) should be 2-4 minutes long and highlight the above topics. This will be due the week after spring break.

The oral presentation (informal and ungraded) should be 2-4 minutes long and highlight the above topics.

Large Group Project - Risk Management
As a culminating project this semester, you will get into groups of 6-7. Together you will choose a sport organization for which to write up a risk management plan. You will use all of the knowledge that you have gained from the entire course to come up with a notebook of strategies, forms, and policies which will help your organization to PREVENT and protect itself from legal problems before they happen. We will spend a few days sharing these with each other, however, there will be no formal presentation of the information (because there will be too much of it to display or get through in a class period).
Difficulty with course material: It is the student’s responsibility to ask questions in class. If questions or comments (such as “I don’t understand”) are not made, it is assumed that the student understands the material. Any question related to course material will be discussed in class, or during office hours, to the student’s satisfaction.

Academic Policy – The academic regulations set forth in the Wilkes University 2012 – 2013 Student Handbook will apply in this course. They deal with matters that include plagiarism, collusion, cheating, computer usage, class attendance/late policies, cellular phones and pagers, required texts/readings, and classroom behavior. The consequences of violations also are indicated in the Handbook and will be enforced.

Of particular note are the sections entitled: Intellectual Responsibility and Plagiarism which states, in part, “At Wilkes the faculty and the entire University community share a deep commitment to academic honesty and integrity. The following are considered to be serious violations and will not be tolerated:

1. Plagiarism: the use of another’s ideas, programs, or words without proper acknowledgement
2. Collusion: improper collaboration with another in preparing assignments, computer programs, or in taking examinations
3. Cheating: giving improper aid to another, or receiving such aid from another or from some other source;” (Handbook page 77)

Class Attendance, which states, in part, “Attendance at all classes is expected. Repeated absence is deemed a sufficient cause for failure” (Handbook page 81). Any absences in excess of three, whether they are excused or not, will adversely affect your grade; If a student has more than 3 absences, their grade will be reduced to the next lower level. More than 6 absences will result in a full letter grade reduction.

It is the student’s responsibility to be in class on time. The student, when late, has the responsibility of informing the professor of their lateness in order to remove an absence from their record. However, a late attendance is considered 1/2 of an absence.

Cellular Phone and Pager Policy, which states “To provide an optimum environment for learning, all cellular phones and pagers must be kept on silent alert (vibration or visible flash) while in the classroom, laboratory, or studio. Any calls must be answered outside the classroom” (Handbook page 82).

Accommodation Information: Please discuss your need for special considerations in terms of testing, note-taking, or other accommodation with your instructor as soon as possible.

Cheating: Anyone caught cheating on homework or tests will be given a grade of ‘F’ for the course. Cheating includes logging on for assignments (homework or tests), not completing the test in the time required, and logging on AGAIN to complete the test within the 60 minutes. The computer will track this information.
Difficulty with course material: It is the student’s responsibility to ask questions. If questions or comments (such as “I don’t understand”) are not made, it is assumed that the student understands the material. Any question related to course material will be discussed via email, or via telephone, to the student’s satisfaction.

NOTE: Each student has a Wilkes account and a Wilkes user ID. This is the address to use when sending emails. Students often change their address & it is difficult for the class to keep changing the mailing list. Therefore, students who do not use their Wilkes account should forward their email from their Wilkes account to whatever service they are using. Directions for forwarding your emails are available from http://www.wilkes.edu

   This course provides students with an understanding of the complexity involved in sport facility and event management. Sport facility management includes a variety of activities such as planning and designing a sports facility, staff management, facility marketing, developing revenue streams, and facility scheduling and operating. Sport event management consists of identifying goals of the event and coordinating people in the organizations involved to achieve those goals with the resources available. (Offered in the fall)

Sport event management consists of identifying goals of the event and coordinating people in the organizations involved to achieve those goals with the resources available.

Competency:
* Understand the role of facilities and event management in the sport and entertainment industry.
* Differentiate between and understand both private and public management of facilities and events.
* Have a basic and cursory knowledge and understanding of all operating departments within facilities and event management (e.g., marketing, sales, box office, event operations, and risk management).
* Become familiar with facility booking strategies.
* Understand crowd management and control at collegiate and professional sports.
* Become familiar with various methods of financing facilities and events.
* Understand how sport and entertainment events can also cultivate social responsibility.
* Examine the collegiate game-day event spectacle (including football bowl games).

Sensitivity:
* Appreciate the relationships between varied constituencies in and around facilities and events.

Note to Students: Please feel free to email me with any problems you incur while taking this course.

Assigned Readings:
Students are responsible for all assigned readings. Questions will be posed (and we will have in-class dialogues) pertaining to the readings. Students will be asked to provide content to all class discussions.

Student Team Presentations for Textbook Chapters
Students will be assigned to a team, and will be required to present a PowerPoint slideshow for one of the chapters in each of the two primary course textbooks. Each student team will be expected to present on the reading due date for the corresponding textbook chapter.

Each team will be expected to present the chapter material in an informative, professional and creative PowerPoint presentation consisting of no more than eight slides and lasting ten - twelve minutes. The instructor may further reduce the time limit and may alter the format for certain team presentations.

Students are not permitted to use note/flash cards during presentations. Become experts on the material and become prepared for presentations after graduation.

Students are strongly encouraged to apply the substantive textbook topics to two or three current issues in facility and event management. Do not simply cover the textbook contents, and make sure the presentation is enlightening and engaging.

Each team is required to incorporate a relevant and appropriate YouTube video into their presentation; the video cannot exceed two minutes in length. Be professional at all times.

Each team must bring a paper copy of their presentation slides to class on the team's scheduled date to present to the rest of the class.

Each team is required to create and present one multiple choice question as well as one true/false question as a part of the team’s presentation. Each team is required post two questions to the LIVE site before the class period on which the group is scheduled to present their chapter to the rest of the class. The instructor may choose to use one of the team’s two questions for inclusion on the exam. Please make sure that the questions you create are challenging, thought-provoking and relevant to the course material.

Each team must have at least one team member bring the presentation to class when the team is scheduled to present. One of the team members must load the presentation to the classroom computer before class begins.

All students are responsible for reading every assigned chapter in the two primary course textbooks, not just the chapters they present.
Student teams should be prepared to present assigned textbook chapters one class period before (and one class period after) the date listed below in the course schedule for a particular textbook chapter.

Project – Important Information and Instructions:
Students will be divided into groups and simulate the management of a golf tournament. Each team will create a 15 - 18 minute presentation simulating a work experience in each of the assigned areas. Students are expected to develop a simulation to which they will “pretend” to work, relate course material to the experience, and discuss career applications in each of the assigned areas.

Below are the list of the six groups and the assigned area:

Group #1: Event Operations and Logistics

Group #2: Tournament Registration and Management

Group #3: Event Marketing and Promotion [Materials and Strategy]

Group #4: Sponsors and Donors [Database and Marketing]

Group #5: Gift Bag Items, Auction Items and Prizes [Database and Silent Auction]

Group #6: Planning for Future Years [Rebranding: Family Theme & New Location]

Career Development Assignment – Important Information and Instructions:
Find interviews with individuals having some sports management occupation. Please select two responses from interviewees (i.e., sports business leaders) that you find to be the most informative, inspiring and/or meaningful. Write a two page explanation for each response you select. Be sure to apply the response to what you have learned about in your core courses at Wilkes (accounting, law, management, finance, marketing, organizational behavior, productions – operations management). Also apply the responses you select to your personal goals and career aspirations.

After completing the first part of this, create ten new questions that you would ask a sports business leader if you were asked to write a second edition of the book.

Difficulty with course material: It is the student’s responsibility to ask questions in class. If questions or comments (such as “I don’t understand”) are not made, it is assumed that the student understands the material. Any question related to course material will be discussed in class, or during office hours, to the student’s satisfaction.

Academic Policy – The academic regulations set forth in the Wilkes University 2012 – 2013 Student Handbook will apply in this course. They deal with matters that include plagiarism, collusion, cheating, computer usage, class attendance/late policies, cellular phones and pagers, required texts/ readings, and classroom behavior. The consequences of violations also are indicated in the Handbook and will be enforced.

Of particular note are the sections entitled:
Intellectual Responsibility and Plagiarism which states, in part, “At Wilkes the faculty and the entire University community share a deep commitment to academic honesty and integrity. The following are considered to be serious violations and will not be tolerated:

1. Plagiarism: the use of another’s ideas, programs, or words without proper acknowledgement
2. Collusion: improper collaboration with another in preparing assignments, computer programs, or in taking examinations
3. Cheating: giving improper aid to another, or receiving such aid from another or from some other source;” (Handbook page 77)

Class Attendance, which states, in part, “Attendance at all classes is expected. Repeated absence is deemed a sufficient cause for failure” (Handbook page 81). Any absences in excess of three, whether they are excused or not, will adversely affect your grade; If a student has more than 3 absences, their grade will be reduced to the next lower level. More than 6 absences will result in a full letter grade reduction.

It is the student’s responsibility to be in class on time. The student, when late, has the responsibility of informing the professor of their lateness in order to remove an absence from their record. However, a late attendance is considered 1/2 of an absence.

Cellular Phone and Pager Policy, which states “To provide an optimum environment for learning, all cellular phones and pagers must be kept on silent alert (vibration or visible flash) while in the classroom, laboratory, or studio. Any calls must be answered outside the classroom” (Handbook page 82).

Accommodation Information: Please discuss your need for special considerations in terms of testing, note-taking, or other accommodation with your instructor as soon as possible.

Cheating: Anyone caught cheating on homework or tests will be given a grade of ‘F’ for the course. Cheating includes logging on for assignments (homework or tests), not completing the test in the time required, and logging on AGAIN to complete the test within the 60 minutes. The computer will track this information.

Difficulty with course material: It is the student’s responsibility to ask questions. If questions or comments (such as “I don’t understand”) are not made, it is assumed that the student understands the material. Any question related to course material will be discussed via email, or via telephone, to the student’s satisfaction.

NOTE: Each student has a Wilkes account and a Wilkes user ID. This is the address to use when sending emails. Students often change their address & it is difficult for the class to keep changing the mailing list. Therefore, students who do not use their Wilkes account should forward their email from their Wilkes account to whatever service they are using. Directions for forwarding your emails are available from http://www.wilkes.edu

Assigned Readings:
Students are responsible for all assigned readings. Questions will be posed (and we will have in-class dialogues) pertaining to the readings. Students will be asked to provide content to all class discussions.

Student Presentations
Students will select an organization involved in sports or recreation. The presentation will explain:

- the purpose or mission of the organization,
- the history of the organization (early development, changes over the organization’s over its life cycle, and the future outlook of the organization),
- the stakeholders of the organization
- the types of jobs found within the organization including details about full and part-time, entry-level, and major positions within the organization.

Students are not permitted to use note/flash cards during presentations. Become experts on the material and become prepared for presentations after graduation.

Each team must bring a paper copy of their presentation slides to class on the team's scheduled date to present to the rest of the class.

Project – Important Information and Instructions:
Students will be working in pairs to 1) select and analyze an organization within the sports industry, then 2) research that organization, interview various principals and staffers and present to the professor and class findings allowing us to visualize and understand how the organization runs and how the individual employees manage their daily work load, and discover that person’s personal career path.

Important due dates:
- End of week 2: pairing of teams
- End of week 4: Submit the name and industry of the organization to be researched
End of week 8: Submit an organization chart along with explanations of key positions and key working relationships.

End of week 12: Select two employees of the company, one at a high level of the organization and one at a level much lower than the first. Research, learn, & document their daily tasks and challenges. Submit a minimum 500 word narrative of each person’s daily routine in detail and give a description of that person’s past and future career path.

Difficulty with course material: It is the student’s responsibility to ask questions in class. If questions or comments (such as “I don’t understand”) are not made, it is assumed that the student understands the material. Course Description:
Marketing (MKT 325) is an introduction to the principles and practices of the marketing profession. You will study the dynamic role marketing plays in our global and national economies. You have the opportunity to build a knowledge base about the following areas: strategic marketing, research, consumer behavior, segmentation and targeting, marketing mix planning, implementation, and evaluation. We will identify marketing challenges, ethical thinking and action, and global dimensions within the profession and practice of marketing.

Student Learning Objectives:
1. develop knowledge and understanding of elementary marketing concepts
2. increase the relevance of marketing theory and strategy
3. understand the principles involved in consumer choice
4. apply the principles of marketing to basic planning and consumptive situations
5. tackle and discuss ethical issues involved in marketing planning and practice
6. improve written expression and communication through the use of formal and informal writing as tools for learning
7. enhance oral communication and listening skills through class discussions and presentations

Course Procedures:
Class sessions will consist of lectures, discussions, videos, and presentations. Learning is most effective when the student is actively involved and responsible for the experience. This is your class—your learning experience. Make the most of it by:
1. reading all assignments, preferably prior to class
2. ask questions or make comments at any time
3. be alert and informed about the marketing environment
4. observe yourself and others in the consumer role
5. attend and participate in class seminars and video discussions
6. participate in projects and assignments
7. prepare for all examinations

Grade Computations: (Weighted Proportions)
An evaluation must be made of the quality and quantity of course learning. You will have the opportunity to demonstrate your learning through periodic examinations, class participation, and projects and exercises.

*%SCALE is for your interpretative feedback. For example, each test is worth a total of 210 points in overall grading. It will be returned to you with a score on a scale from 0 through 100%.

Grading Ranges:

- 90-100 = 4.0  75-79.9 = 2.5  60-64.9 = 1.0
- 85-89.9 = 3.5  70-74.9 = 2.0  below 60 = 0.0
- 80-84.9 = 3.0  65-69.9 = 1.5

Processes:
The projects, presentations, discussions, and examinations are opportunities for you to enhance your conceptual and practical skills. They are also opportunities for you to develop and enhance your listening, written, and interpersonal communication skills.

IMPORTANT NOTES:
- Our textbook web site is an informative & useful learning resource. It contains Exercises, On-Line Self-Tests (very helpful for test preparation), Flash Cards, resource & company links, etc.

- You will need to use net searches and interlibrary loan to review available information. Do not rely on the often outdated material in books.

- The WILKES UNIVERSITY WRITING CENTER is an excellent resource.
The Learning Center has excellent peer tutors available to enhance your study time. This free service is available throughout the semester.

Please use a word processor program for all assignments and keep a personal copy. All team members should keep a copy of term projects for their portfolios.

Inclement Weather Policy:
You can register for text alerts on your cell or call the University Weather Hotline at 408-7669 (SNOW) or 1-800-WILKESU (Ext: 7669) for weather related announcements. PLEASE use your good judgment and common sense regarding your personal commute conditions. If I must cancel class and Wilkes is open, I will do an email blast as soon as possible.

Outcomes Assessment:
In addition to summative assessment tools (exams, projects, and presentations) we also will be engaging in formative assessment. Together, you and I share responsibility for creating and maintaining a supportive, exciting learning environment in our classroom (see ACBSP Outcomes Assessment Program—MKT 321).

Contact:
I am one of your resource persons. Please contact me at my office or at home to arrange a personal or telephone conference. Please see me as soon as possible if you are having any difficulties.

SPORTS MARKETING TERM PROJECT ASSIGNMENT

“Learning is enhanced through activity”. Each student will participate in a marketing experience. This project is intended to demonstrate and enhance your creativity and communication skills. The projects are self-directed.

Students who are in the Sports Marketing area need to focus on the role of sports when applying marketing concepts and principles. Students will become familiar with the terms and tools relevant to the sports industry and examine the difference between the use of sports for marketing and the use of marketing in sports. Class discussions, presentations, and projects must focus on our basic marketing concepts and their innovative application in the business of sports. The following is a limited list of topics that may help to inform your decisions about investigations and projects:

- Event Marketing
- Brand Marketing
- Sponsorship
- PR/Media
- Digital Marketing/Technology
- The effect of globalization on sports
- Cause Marketing
Sports Corporations

Students should form marketing teams of 2-3 persons very early in the semester (if necessary, you may work individually). Each team will be responsible for developing a marketing plan for a venture in the sporting/recreation area. It may be a new idea, new to the target audience, a current team, organization, or endeavor or the repositioning of a present endeavor. Investigate the idea, the market, and the consumer target group. Finally, propose a Marketing Strategy Plan for the product. You might want to investigate a campus organization, develop an entrepreneurial plan, or contact a regional business for your product ideas.

Sports Marketing students are highly encouraged to interact with various sports marketing professionals on and off campus, attend events and initiatives, and volunteer with entrepreneurial and community service initiatives.

Pre-Project: Due the beginning of the third week of classes
Please key up your responses to the following questions:

1. Name your team or marketing agency
2. Describe the product concept (good, service, or idea) your team has selected. What benefits does it deliver?
3. Describe the target market for your product concept. Who needs it? Why? (This will later be used in the Executive Summary of your Marketing Plan)
4. Team process and contract:
   - Who is on the team? List names & contact information
   - What is the team’s Project responsibility?
   - When will you meet?
   - Where will you meet?
   - How will you coordinate?
   - What are the team’s standards of quality?
   - What are the strategies to assure success?
   - How will decisions be made?

Team management issues:
- Agenda
- Team Leadership
- Records
- Attendance
- Consequences for inadequate performance

The Marketing Plan Project
(Due on or before the last class)

The written report will be a formal documentation of your efforts. The report should be brief (about 12 pages), typed, double-spaced, and proofread prior to submission. Please follow academic guidelines:

- Use headings and subheadings to structure the report.
- Credit all materials to their source. All facts, figures, ideas, etc. must receive in-text citation and reference page crediting.
- A Marketing Plan Template will be given in class.
Wilkes University has officially adopted the American Psychological Association’s (APA) documentation style for research papers. All sources referenced must be cited within the text of the paper in the form of parenthetical references and in a separate references page containing complete bibliographical information of each source. Students unfamiliar with the APA style of documentation should reference the Little, Brown Handbook.

- Each member of the team should receive a copy of the project for his or her personal portfolio
- A Marketing Project Team Evaluation from each team member must be handed in separately to ensure confidentiality

Statement on Academic Integrity

Wilkes University exists to educate our students. The University’s “most important mission is to help students become informed, caring, involved students” (Office of the Provost, Leadership in Higher Education, www.wilkes.edu). Since Wilkes is a community whose purpose is the pursuit of knowledge, the entire campus is committed to the principles of academic integrity and honesty.

In our class, academic integrity is the responsibility of everyone – students and teacher. We are responsible for honest effort in the pursuit of knowledge. In taking this class you are responsible for attending class, being alert in class, completing all assignments to the best of your ability, contributing to a nurturing learning environment both in and out of class, and researching and studying with the spirit of discovery and competence building. I am your resource person in this endeavor.

Attendance:
Since the class activities affect your learning and the learning experience of your peers, regular attendance is mandatory (see the Wilkes Student Handbook for amplification on the University’s attendance policy). Please plan to arrive on time and remain the entire class period. If you must be absent please keep me informed as to your out-of-class progress and expectations. However, YOU are responsible for all information, assignments, revisions, announcements, etc. Arrange for a peer stopgap measure within the first few class sessions.

Classroom Ethics:
We are all expected to respect the learning environment of others. Supportive, constructive comments are encouraged. Humor is welcome. Harassment, cheating*, plagiarism, and other similar behaviors will not be tolerated. Anyone who engages in such behavior may be removed from the class and earn a grade of 0 for the course.

*In this class, cheating is defined as intentionally using or attempting to use the words, ideas, or answers of another student or using unauthorized materials in any academic exercise. Please protect your work from unauthorized use.

Plagiarism is using the words or ideas of another without clearly acknowledging the source of that information. To avoid plagiarism, you must give credit or give a citation whenever you use another person’s idea, opinion, or theory or use facts, statistics, graphs, drawings, and/or quotations.

Wilkes University Academic Regulations: This is the legalese part

The policies of the current Wilkes University Student Handbook for 2012 - 2013, in particular those covered under the section entitled “Academic Regulations,” apply to this course. Of particular note are the sections entitled:

Intellectual Responsibility and Plagiarism that states, in part, “At Wilkes the faculty and the entire University community share a deep commitment to academic honesty and integrity. The following are considered to be serious violations and will not be tolerated:

1. Plagiarism: the use of another’s ideas, programs, or words without proper acknowledgement
2. Collusion: improper collaboration with another in preparing assignments, computer programs, or in taking examinations

3. Cheating: giving improper aid to another, or receiving such aid from another or from some other source”;

Attendance at Class, which states, in part, “Attendance at all classes is expected. Repeated absence is deemed a sufficient cause for failure.” Any absences in excess of three, whether they are excused or not, will adversely affect your grade”;

My Reminders:
1. Please plan to arrive on time and remain the entire class period.
2. Disturbing class with personal, non-relevant conversations is RUDE! Be prepared to share your conversation or reactions with all.

3. Any web surfing, texting, tweeting etc. must be class related; please refrain from the social use of electronics during class.
4. Supportive, constructive comments are encouraged. Humor is welcome. Harassment, cheating, plagiarism, and other similar behaviors will not be tolerated. Anyone who engages in such behavior may be removed from the class and earn a grade of 0 for the course.
5. If you must eat or drink in class, please do so quietly and unobtrusively. Respect your peers in terms of food aromas, both good & bad.
