Course Description:
The Department Practicum may be taken for one to two credits per semester. Students may earn credit for major roles and positions of major responsibility in the co-curricular activities in the Creative Production Studio, Studio 020. Credit for participation in these activities is optional, and voluntary participation (without credit) is also encouraged. The department, through the advisor or instructor of the activity, has the authority to approve or reject any contract for credit under this designation. Credits earned are applicable toward graduation, but do not count toward the requirements of the IM core. Written approval for credit must be by advisor or department chairperson.

As defined above, this course credit option is only offered for specific circumstances. There have not been any students within the last four years that fit the need/criteria.

5. Please explain why this course should not be deleted.

This is a great option for the correct circumstance as reward or motivation. Although not used recently, it has in the past, and may be an option to consider for students working on special projects within the department.
